

How can we produce kinetic energy?

At our booth you will learn how kinetic energy is useful and how it can be produced. You will see a light bulb being energized by a 1.5 volt battery. You will also learn about the difference between kinetic energy and potential energy. You will understand that whenever potential energy is released, it becomes some sort of kinetic energy.