

How can we relate WW II Tiger Tanks and Electromagnetic Fields?

This project has combined research on both WW II Tiger Tanks and electromagnetic fields. Visitors will have the chance to learn about the history of the Tiger Tank while also discovering how electromagnetism is being incorporated into future tank designs. On display will be a Van de Graff generator that will demonstrate how electromagnetic fields work. This will be accompanied by a cardboard model of a Tiger Tank.