

The Importance of Everglades as Natural Habitat

Through much research our students discovered that it's important to protect and keep the Everglades a natural environment. Students will have a large map, mural and diorama to display their knowledge of the Everglades. Interactive games will take place using those visual to help teach others of the Everglades. Visitors will also get an opportunity to build their favorite animal or plants of the Everglades using play-do.