

How does the Amazon Rain Forest help us grow?

The Amazon Rain Forest provides many essential resources in which we use every day. A few of these are many varieties of foods, medicine, nuts, spices and oxygen.

The project will consist of a walk-through rain forest built by the students. The students will guide visitors through the rain forest as they search for specific plants and animals and various life cycles. There will also be a live animal exhibit featuring animals native to the rain forest.
